

The failure and the Radiant Star

70 years have passed since those once Called failed. You, who are permitted to read the Message today, stand before this past event uncomprehending. How was it even possible for Called human spirits to fail in this way at the time of the fulfilment from the Light? Unable to do anything about this past before you stand, you are overwhelmed by a sense of powerlessness. Many of you believe never to fail in this way.

Today, you hold a Work in your hands Which was given to you from this time of Light-Fulfilment. You read It attentively. But rigidly you keep your focus on your world. Granted, you do indeed include spiritual happenings in your thinking, however, your view is from below to the above, for you leave it to the intellect to grasp everything first. If you apprehended the words in spirit first, your gaze would be from above to the below, and your actions would already be different today.

And so it comes to pass that you, too, are in danger of failing, even in your current cloak.

You hope that everything will be brought about through the Light, so that your world is purified, and you await the signs for it. But from the Light's perspective everything has already been brought about, with the Holy Word, the chaining of Lucifer and the coming of the Radiant Star. You are the ones who need to take action. It rests with you alone to manifest the changes. Only then will luminous, invigorating currents hurry towards you. However, you are biding your time, and so the blessing passes you by.

In your world, the Light lets you do as you please. The end of the Judgement will merely bring you damnation or ascent but no changes; such depend entirely on you. You, who were permitted to receive the Word and have recognised It for what It is, what are you doing with this knowledge today? You call your lukewarm wait-and-see stance trust in God. In this posture of wait-and-see you strive as much as possible in your material world to observe the Laws of your Creator which you were granted to recognise. But in order to persist in your world you take more account of your laws, the wrongfulness of which you have realised. You will never change your world like this; rather, you will continuously be supplying the ills with fresh nourishment.

You wait and hope that the Power out of the Light will intervene in all the places where you have recognised wrongs. Many of you are already prepared to help and to act, however, not in the way in which the Light expects you to but in the way you think with your intellect. Your urge first to pay attention to events on material soil will be your doom thereby. You must stand in the Power and the Ray from the Light, must act with your intuition, even if the entire Gross Material World threatens to turn against you.

You yourself must open the channels to the Light and fill them with your longing to serve only the Light. Not until then will the power approach you. But do not expect earthly blessings. The spiritual blessing, which evinces completely different effects, however, will certainly be yours. And if you but for one moment of happiness experience a connection with the Light, then this moment is worth more than all the comforts this Earth has to offer.

Today, the Light stands outside your self-made world. Your Earth is already too dense for the Light to be able to penetrate without destroying all that is material. You must haste toward It with your longing to serve, a longing that needs to be undimmed and ungoverned by the intellect.

However, do not imagine this to be so easy. In silence you must act and bear witness before mankind, not with your words but with your deeds. But do not think this refers to the material deeds, no, your deeds must be spiritual and your activity informed by symbolic values, for also material activity must not manifest its primary effect in your world. Leave this with confidence to the substantiate forces who will then implement it into matter. Only then will the threads that intertwine everything ethereally fill with the Power of the Light. But without you as the connecting link this luminous connection will remain far from your world.

Through your being, your nature the people are to take notice. Thereupon they will ask you: How did you come to be this delightful? However, only those who still bear the longing within also to stand in such delightfulness will enquire. Therefore, do not go from door to door with the TRUTH as peddlers do.

Neither do so with your current economic and modern means, which are mostly fostered by the Darkness anyhow, but live the Word and radiate It. Only in this way can you be the shining light and staff for all Light-seeking spirits. As soon as you allow yourselves to be guided by the Power of the Light you need only "be" in order to serve the Truth. This is the deed that is demanded from you.

However, for a long time now you have failed to recognise this guidance; bedazzled by your intellect which dictates to you its own path to the Light, a nonviable notion anyway, you have become blind, and this is exactly the reason why you are again at risk of failing today.

Mostly it is the desire for acknowledgement, the craving for recognition, even before yourself, that drives your activity. Due to the Truth you were permitted to find, you now regard yourself as being different. With your new recognitions as well as all the human traits and facets of the vanities you now want to spread the Word among mankind.

But know this: many a one, who is not familiar with the Word in the form in which It was given to you, stands closer to the Light than you do.

So it came to pass that only few of you are capable of inflaming the considerable number of still smouldering spirit-flamelets to new fervour. Consequently, you reached for the form offered by the intellect as a substitute - the dissemination of the Word. In so doing, however, you debase It to the level of mundane reading matter which is in need of winning favour with the people.

Because you fail to bring the Word to life within you, you are unable to spread It in any other way than to employ intellect-based volition. The path willed by the Light, to leave it to the power of attraction of the Word Itself where and how It reaches men, is only rarely possible, for you no longer constitute the necessary point of attraction. The human spirit seeking the Light, however, needs your exemplary "being" to be touched by the Truth. Mankind is too far removed from this Truth due to the supremacy of the intellect over the course of thousands of years and which now reaches its zenith. Without this bridge, which you are to be, the gulf is too wide. For this reason words out of the Cosmos resound toward you again today

"If you fail, the world will fall!"

You are to keep the Word of Truth on hand in printed form, but leave to Its independent power of attraction who is urged to ask questions, and be alert in recognising who genuinely seeks It. All too often the Darkness clawed at the Word in order to interpret It falsely and to distract the human spirit through intellectual thinking. The Word protects Itself as long as the intellect is not given the opportunity to push itself to the fore. Assume that it is precisely the earthbound souls that have been equipped with an acute intellect so as to clutch at the Truth with it in order reinterpret the Word and to incorporate such reinterpretation into the language of their understanding. In this way the Word will not be accessible to the spirit because It becomes stuck in the intellect or the feeling.

You think that you, too, became aware of the Word in this manner. In which other way could It have reached you? You, who were granted to find the Word again, know that It attracted you because this was predestined, but you do not know why. Just as it was at that time, before the failure, you must again be the first today because you still bear homogeneity within you. You were endowed with it so as to recognise the Word in order to be permitted to atone. Listen carefully now, it was your duty to recognise It, for you must lead the way for humankind. You are to be the first to absorb the rays of the Star for the purpose of fashioning the same and then passing them on. You were led to the Word to fulfil this task.

Therefore, practice the power of silence to gather the power that is to rush in shortly, so that you are finally able to prepare mankind to receive the Word soon. Speak only when you are asked; you will intuit when it is appropriate to speak and when you ought to do so; the words you are to utter will then flow to you. Do not thereupon tarnish the words you are allowed to speak with your intellect, otherwise they will be devoid of the power to touch the spirit; they would then only reach the intellect of the listener. In that case the truth will only frighten many without affecting the spirit. You are to speak from soul to soul, spirit to spirit.

Mankind is to learn from your example. It is the way you live that is to arouse their curiosity to observe you. But then they must not find any faults in you according to the Laws of Creation which then they will also recognise. In this way the desire will awaken in them to be as you are. For this reason you were granted the grace to encounter the Word first and once again. Most of you, however, have to pass through a severe catharsis yourself, purification, before attaining to the maturity to take up your post. Many will miss the great grace of being permitted to lead the way due to their complacency. They will join the ranks of those of whom it is written: "Let the dead bury their dead!"

Too often there is a reaching out to that which is offered by the intellect, because it seems to bring healing and well-being into your world. But you forget to whom the intellect belongs. You believe Lucifer to be bound and deprived of power; yes, this was brought about by the Light for your benefit, so that this relief would enable you to recognise the path to the Truth, for only in this way was salvation still possible as thereby Lucifer's direct influence on you was to be interrupted. But do not delude yourselves, due to men's carelessness he has not forfeited his influence; rather, he is again extending it thanks to the intellect. Via the intellect he still maintains the connection with you from the depths of the darkness. In this way he is creating an empire anew, availing himself to this end of nearly all mankind. He hopes to regain his empire as soon as the time of his fettering has come to an end. But mind, the battle for the Light is not about making this world more comfortable for you but to save your spirit, each for himself, in order to help shape a future soon in a purified world that is closer to the Light, which today you are not yet able to discern but which the substantiate beings have already been working on diligently for a long time.

For the time being, however, you have to awaken the longing in those spirit-flamelets that can still be saved, through your "being" and your activity; but it must not be intellectual activity. These must then decide for themselves whether they want to continue listening to Lucifer's temptations from the depths of the darkness.

It will not be long until in the rays of the Star only that which is willed by the Light will take place. But your failure will then bind you to your false material work, and you are in danger of sliding into disintegration alongside it when the luminous, purified world detaches from this Earth which has been on the verge of rigidity for a long time.

The Radiant Star

It is promised you and belongs to the Light-happenings like the Word Itself. It is written that its radiance will gradually encompass the entire Earth. Not at the same time, but first here and then there you will sense its effect until finally the whole Earth will be under its influence.

You were not told where the rays will strike your planet first as sooner or later your whole world will come under its influence. It is said its rays will destroy whatever is false and build up all that is light. However, since everything is false in your world, nothing will be built up before it has been destroyed. Thus it is written.

For years you have been waiting for this Star. But know this: the Star took up its position long ago already, it was you who have departed from that place; you have sunk into a density into which it is not permitted to follow. The promise has thereby not changed, but the form of the happening will now manifest differently.

For many a long year already the Star's radiance reaches your world and envelops it with its rays as if in an embrace. But this Earth has become so dense that the rays hardly penetrate the tenacity. Only in those places where longing for the Light ascends are its rays attracted due to a homogeneity. There they then have a visible effect ... but only there. As a result, for years you have still been protected from the most severe effects of the Judgement by your density. The stream of your time, too, has become too tenacious so that the rays barely cut through. Thus you are still able to rule with your intellect in your world and shape it according to Lucifer's wishes. Were this state of affairs to remain, you would all be lost once Lucifer is freed from his chains and the Star withdraws the belt of radiation around your world.

Lucifer himself, hailing from the Divine Realm and erstwhile sent to you as an archangel, is eternal, and accordingly, he will also be able to form his empire eternally. He wants to lead the indolent human spirit, whom he actually holds in contempt, into the depths of damnation. This damnation is the breeding ground of all human evil and did not come into being through Lucifer but through the human spirit's dark intuitive capacity. Lucifer only provided the principle for it. This dark empire is transient. Lucifer himself stands outside. It is his ambition to prove that the spirit-germ is not worthy of being permitted to develop, and he seems to be succeeding. Evidence to the contrary can only be produced by the individual human spirit that matured despite the wrong principle and Lucifer's snares instead of succumbing to them. Viewed in this light, Lucifer helps the spirit become more watchful and therefore more personal, for only an indolent spirit succumbs to his temptations. It is the human spirits themselves with their works that constitute the resistance to the Light.

Light that reaches you today, therefore, destroys mostly only these works; because it is there that it encounters strong resistance everywhere. You, however, do not see anything good in this destruction and you do not recognise therein a rectification of all that is false.

Why do you think it is that as yet no replica of the Grail Castle is permitted to stand on Earth, even though this has long since been promised? This Castle would be standing on false soil and face destruction in the same manner through the rays of the Star. The power of the Star has to press against the material resistance with such force that nothing can be spared. That is how dense your world has become in the meantime.

The power would have to break through the tenacious mass with overwhelming, utterly unexpected might and come at you with such vehemence as was never intended by the Light. Nothing would withstand and the human spirit that is either still bound or not yet sufficiently matured to bear this power would hereby lose its ego-consciousness.

For the benefit of the few that are still righteous in spirit, this happening is being withheld.

Thus it is that the rays penetrate your world only carefully dispensed in order to reach those places where voluntary salvation of the spirit is still possible. These points are then impulsed and animated; unfortunately almost always through men's failure, marked by the most severe suffering.

You have long since noticed that the radiation has already begun to take effect in many places. You see it, and now you believe that in these parts of your world there must be much that is false, since the Judgement is so clearly apparent there. But do not delude yourselves!

You see the suffering in the world: earthquakes, floods, famine, misery, wars, much that you can observe only from afar but which hardly concerns you personally.

You are grateful that you have been spared, seeing therein a kind of connectedness with the Light. In much that concerns yourself you believe to recognise progress.

The thought that not everything about you appears to be wrong seemingly provides you with a sense of tranquillity. The proof for your sentiment and thinking you see in the fact that your integrity has been preserved, and you mourn for and empathise with all the lost souls that have to suffer so greatly. You quietly pray for these so that they may gain the strength for recognition that enables them to come through these trying times purified, however, you ought to be praying for yourselves.

Where do you believe do the rays of the Star take effect first? It is where there is still homogeneity, i.e. there where there is still genuine longing for the Light. Only once its rays cover the entire planet will all corners, including the densest and remotest, be struck.

Therefore, if under the protection of your denseness through the governing intellect, i.e. technology and economy as well as the material world, you remain untouched, it does not follow that you stand closer to the Light.

Consider this well!

You are living in a rigid world, not willed by the Light. This planet is sick. Naturally, healing commences there where true longing for such healing is still greatest, which thereby then also constitutes the strongest force of attraction. This is why the rays of the Star first of all take effect in those places where human beings seek little fulfilment in earthly life and have to direct their hopes of redemption to On High as their entire striving is in and focused on a more luminous world.

Human beings who have long since given up their search for fulfilment in earthly life, whose thoughts do not centre on the acquisition of earthly recognition, the accumulation of material goods or the security of life. They can only sense life itself, even if they do not yet know the Truth. They are forced to direct their gaze not towards Earth, from where nothing is to be expected anyhow, but upward, in the hope that a better life awaits them there. It is these who first and foremost provide the strong attraction for the rays which then, after all, do succeed in penetrating the denseness.

This is how it was 3000 years ago when erstwhile the Jewish people had nothing to hope for under the corvée of the Egyptians. Their longing was directed at the Light. This provided the foundation for the Redeemer's birth into precisely this people 1000 years later. And so it is today with the rays of the Star which are also to bring redemption to the spirit, this time, however, through the destruction of all that is false. It could have been different today. The human spirits that had absorbed the Truth were meant to provide the strongest attraction from generation to generation. Then the planet would never have sunk so deeply and the purification would have been fulfilled by now. But again failure was at hand.

Now everything is once again going to be different.

All happening that is about to take place is spiritual happening and experiences its Justice and Fulfilment not in your world because it has not been under the direct influence of the Light for so long.

The Star, which can also be called Comet, originates in the Primordial Spiritual Planes, but it will not find its way into your world as was planned. It has sunk too deeply. The Star is in that place where according to cosmic laws the Earth should be, i.e. where the Son of Man wanted to anchor the Light. All you are now left with is the opportunity to make a connection with the Light through the Word. If the human spirit, and in particular those who recognised the Word and those who were meant to encounter It, and in part did in fact encounter It, had not failed, the Earth would be in that place where the Comet was supposed to meet your planet.

In order to reach your world today, the Comet would have to clothe itself with a cloak of the heaviest matter. In this way it would become visible to you as prophesied. However, this would mean enveloping itself in a density which would shield its rays because nothing of them would be able to penetrate this covering. Thus it would fail to fulfil its purpose. Without such a cloak, however, it would immediately destroy Earth if it could reach it in the density. Thus it remains in that place where Earth should be and sends its rays. With these it surrounds and holds the Earth. The Comet has wrapped itself in a cloak of finer gross matter which allows its power to pass through to the exterior and from there it takes effect in your severely condensed world. As a result, Earth is continuously enveloped by its rays, and these compress the Darkness evermore tightly so that it lives itself out therein, for you to attain to recognition of all that is false, but without penetrating directly.

Your world can be held in this way, but it can no longer be saved. For with his intellect man has succeeded in placing a humanitarian mask on the wrong principle so that you are unable to distinguish the wolf from the sheep. You are surrounded by wolves in sheep's clothing. You see light where dark is at work and dark where light is effective. You are lost if help does not come again. Once more, for the sake of a few souls of righteousness, help is being sent.

A messenger, a part of the Radiant Star, severed itself and embarked on a journey into the depths of the darkness to increase the radiation and to animate the denseness directly without destroying it. He was enveloped in a covering to be able to enter your world. Thus he becomes visible also to you. But in accordance with the natural laws, he will have to detach from matter so that his rays can take unimpeded effect. This occurs as soon as he reaches the sphere of influence of your world in order to again connect with Earth in matter. Thus even this messenger has to abide by the Laws of Creation. The date of his connection with Earth will have historic and symbolic value. His radiation will cause your intuition flare up so that you can recognise clearly where the Darkness wields its influence. However, you will only succeed, if your will yearns for it and if you yourselves have not succumbed to the weaknesses.

You will not be able to miss this event, if only you will.

In everything that the future now has in store for you, consider that all actual happening is of a spiritual nature, even if you notice little in the earthly.

Let yourselves be guided by the power of the rays, and then these will draw you along, out of the clutches of disintegration. On departing from this place one day, attracted by his origin, the messenger will extract the newly built world, which up to that point will have been formed by the substantiate beings, from this mantle impervious to light in order to carry the renewed Earth to where it was to have stood from the primordial beginning. The detached covering along with all your false works remains behind and then falls into disintegration. It is for you to decide into which direction you and your soul will be drawn.

The human spirit, thus purified, then stands in the place where the Star long since awaits it. Not until then has the time come during which man can develop into a species the kind of which you are unable to fathom with the intellect, even in your most fanciful imaginations. The spiritualised complete man!

Pray that you will learn to shape the near future in the way the Light expects from you.
